CHARITY BOARD REPORT

IT IS LOOKED UPON AS A JOKE BY THE COMMISSIONERS.

Alleged Facts in the Report About the Tunnel and Power House

Disputed.

The Marion County Board of Charities and Correction filed its report of visits to the county jail, power house, tunnel and the German Protestant Orphan Asylum with the Board of County Commissioners, yesterday. The report said that the jail was found in excellent condition and spoke in the highest terms of the orphans' home. It stated that there are sixty-nine inmates | Circuit Court, in the home, forty boys and twenty-nine girls, and that the home has a horse, five cows, eight hogs and plenty of chickens. The place has been improved by substituting electric lights for oil lamps. Regarding the tunnel and power house the board did not speak so favorably. It said that oil and coal dust was allowed to accumulate on the floor of the power house, and that the tunnel needed sweeping and whitewashing. The Board of Commissioners was requested to see that the engineers at the power

The Board of Charities has long since ceased to be taken seriously by the County Commissioners. The commissioners say they long before they are filed with them, and that they have never been able to secure a conference with the board, since its inauguration, two or three years ago. The Board of Charities has been invited to appear before the County Council to assist the commissioners to get appropriations for improvements it recommended, but no such It Will Take Place This Afternoonint conference could ever be secured. Repeated efforts have failed to bring them. into conference with the commissioners and the county officials are now beginning to tay that if the Board of Charitles really wanted to do anything it would conduct its offairs in a business-like manner.

missioners, said, last night, that the Board of Charities and Correction had exceeded its authority in going into the power house and tunnel, as they have no connection whatever with its duties. However, he said. the report is erroneous and misleading. He says oil was spilled on the floor of the power house when the machinery was being put in and started, but efforts have been made to eradicate it, and, to an extent, this has been successful. He said a number of different preparations were tried. Regarding the machinery, he said the board is entirely wrong, for the machinery of the power house is kept in excellent condition. As to the tunnel, he said from what he was able to learn, the board had inspected it last February, and since that time it has been cleaned and whitewashed without the board's suggestion

Commissioner McGregor said he would not be surprised if the next report recommended a certain system of plowing corn, and that potatoes be planted in the moon. He said the board had never shown any disposition to act fairly with the Board of ommissioners by doing anything more than make "investigations and knock," instead of attempting to assist in remedying the alleged evils discovered. Commissioner Spafford was of the same mind as the other commissioners and the board says it seems as if the Charities Board is not satisfied unless it can find fault somewhere.

Coroner Nash returned yesterday from South Bend and reviewed the evidence taken by Dr. Knox, his deputy, and concurred in the verdict rendered that death tempt was made in the formal verdict to state the cause of the poisoning.

A committee of the Indianapolis Bar Association, composed of Albert Baker, W H. H. Miller, Ferdinand Winter, Lafayette Perkins, Harold Taylor, Charles W. Moores, W. P. The following memorial, by the directors of the Country Club, was spread upon the records of the club at a meeting yesterday: "Others, bearing professional relations to our friend, Francis T. Hord, have paid their tribute to his memory and given just estimates of his splendid ability as a lawyer and of his integrity and patriotic spirit in the public service, to which he was called, but it is for us, who knew him more intimately as a member and director of the Country Club, to record our love and affection for our generous, large-hearted, sweet-tempered friend, who entered into the wholesome pleasures and diversions of our club with the same generous spirit and enthusiasm that characterized all the more serious actions of his life.

"We mourn with a heartfelt sincerity his death, and extend to his wife our deepest sympathy. Her sweet and constant affection for and comradeship with him was an inspiration and a happiness to the everwidening circle of their friends. He was a noble fellow, who lived fully and loved his friends, and has left a precious memory

Much interest in the death of Mr. Hord was aroused among persons not intimately associated with him by the report that he carried an unusually large amount of life nsurance. This interest was increased yesterday by the announcement that, instead of carrying only $50,000 worth of insurance he had taken out policies to the amount of $165,000. Of this amount $150,000 is said to be in policies incontestable on the ground

The Rockwood Manufacturing Company, the Chandler & Taylor Company and Dean Bros. are in the Metal Trades Association and say a settlement rests with that organization and the International Association of Machinists. In addition to the anticipated strike of the machinists it is said the allied metal trades may also take a hand in the affair where their demands are not granted. It is said the pattern makers, who have every member of their craft in the city in their organization, will demand a nine-hour day and increase in wages Tuesday, and if the demand is not granted they will go out. Other trades affected are fron molders, metal workers, metal polishers, buffers, platers, brass workers, boiler makers, blacksmiths and helpers. These are the trades that President O'Connell has asked to co-operate with the machinists, but it is understood that where a settlement has been effected by any of these particular craftsmen they will give nothing but their moral support.
